DRESS CODE

Campers need to dress safely and suitably for camp so they can participate in all activities and have the most fun without worrying about their appearance or ruining their clothes in an activity. Our dress code is minimal and in keeping with everyone feeling safe and enjoying the outdoors. Campers need to understand our dress code ahead of time so they can pack appropriate clothing. They will be required to change if their clothing is deemed inappropriate.

- Clothing should fit comfortably and be designed for active wear. Avoid clothing that is overly tight, short or baggy.
- All clothing should cover undergarments.
- Tank tops and sleeveless shirts should fit appropriately and not have large, gaping arm holes that hang down exposing skin. Tank tops should be supportive and avoid halter and spaghetti strap style ties.
- Swimwear for girls must be a one-piece swimsuit that provides complete coverage and avoids spaghetti straps, or swim trunks and swim shirt that is designed for active wear.
- Swimwear for boys must be swim trunks designed for active wear (no shorts, cut-off pants, or Speedos).
- Adventure activities such as the high rope and rock climbing that use a harness, require shorts with a minimum of a 5 inch inseam.
